

Another Think Coming -- the Awakening

Bob has had headaches all of his life, but over the past several years, they had gotten much worse. Pounding, debilitating headaches that started at the base of his skull and moved all the way up the back of his head. They threatened to affect work. They already affected most of his life. Even his cat was trying to help in his own, funny way. Little did Bob know he was the beginning of a new awakening. Carol and her sister Julie, both doctors, were trying their best to figure out what was going on. And when they finally did, no one believed it.
