Suite in Modo Classico: Suite in modo classico was composed 2009 with ideas from old sketchbooks. Its, as the title suggests, based on classical models which are twisted around in a playful inventive way. 1st movement is marked Allegro Nordico and has a lively fresh character in a sonata like form. 2nd movement, Aria Lamentosa, is inspired by Baroque music and has some Ravelian moods. The piece finishes with a sparkling and virtuosic Tarantella. 2 Improvisations: Two pieces in an improvisatory style from 2008-2009, that are both pianistically and emotionally demanding with big dynamical spans. The 2nd one is based on the famous Swedish song Ack, Varmeland du skona. The Rage of the Chameleon: This work was Niklas Sivelov's first piano piece and was composed 1985 at the age of 17. The subtitle is Little Suite for Piano. Its playful, virtuosic, and shifting character makes it a fun piece to play. Poeme: A powerful and lyrical piece with deep concentration and strong development. The overall structure follows the golden ratio and the polyphonic texture gives a lot of voicing possibilities. Toccata: A rhythmic lively and virtuosic piece with some influences from jazz. Niklas Sivelov (b. 1968) is primarily known as a concert pianist who gained international fame in the 1990s following a string of prizes at international competitions. He has played with some of the leading orchestras and conductors in the world, has played solo recitals in leading halls, and frequently plays chamber music and accompanies other well-known musicians in concerts. The distinctions Niklas Sivelov has received are many and impressive signifying his position as leading Nordic pianist. His recording of his own improvisations over Bellman's music was awarded the important The Independent Music Awards, where he was the first Swede ever to win the prize for the best classical album and
