

The Chronicles of Lumina

Men have forgotten what it is like to battle against anyone other than man. Yet old enemies have returned. Our enemies have learned from their past failures. They have come with enough strength and conviction in their God to burn everything in their path. There is no time to run. There is nowhere to hide. Now is the time when men and women will have to rise up to defend the weak. Now is the time for the Lumina Knights to heed the call of battle.
